

Esploro and InCites Benchmarking & Analytics

Putting your institution's research in context

The Clarivate Research product suite brings together a powerful set of integrated enterprise solutions that help your organization leverage the most out of its research.

But how can you confidently know how well your institution is doing? By comparing institutional research outputs with those of global peers, as well as with past outputs tracked internally over time, you can check if your institution's research is meeting your goals. With accurate reporting capabilities, Esploro helps you effectively share rich metrics with other systems and stakeholders across your institution.

Esploro is the microscope, providing an in-depth view into your organization's research activities. InCites is the telescope, showing you your position in the wider academic universe. Wisdom is understanding them both.

The Esploro and InCites Benchmarking & Analytics Integration

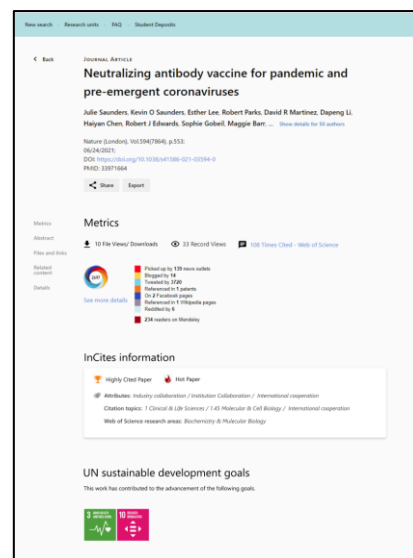

The combined capabilities of Esploro, the streamlined research information management system, and InCites, the multi-faceted research evaluation tool for assessment and strategy, provide a comprehensive view into research impact and institutional productivity.

Esploro's robust analytics are seamlessly and automatically enriched by InCites metrics, for example highly cited papers and hot papers, and its global, regional and institutional benchmark capabilities. This broadens Esploro's powerful and actionable insights regarding research goals, provides a wider picture of the research landscape, and helps identify potential collaborations.

With InCites metrics and Esploro analytics together mutual customers will:

- Decide what success looks like with out-of-the-box and customized reporting, making it easy to visualize performance against various benchmarks.
- Effectively demonstrate value and share rich, accurate and up-to-date metrics with other systems and stakeholders
- Measure the impact of internal organizational units.
- Benchmark your institution's performance with that of your peers in the most accurate way by using indicators normalized by journal, year and category.
- Track changes to your institutional, regional and global research ecosystem.
- Showcase your institution's research and researcher profiles when and where it counts most.
